

Menstrupedia

TO WHOMSOEVER IT MAY CONCERN

My name is Aditi Gupta and I am the Founder of Menstrupedia. Menstrupedia is an education platform that I am building to help young girls have a better childhood by learning about menstruation and their bodies in an easy and entertaining way at the right time. With a team of dynamic and passionate people with complementary skills, Menstrupedia aims at delivering informative and entertaining content through different media. The educational comic book on menstruation that we have developed at Menstrupedia is tailored to be less academic in nature and more culturally casual yet sensitive for girls to feel at home reading it.

Mr. Deepak Ramola has been a collaborator with my organization and I can confidently confirm that he is a hardworking and brilliant human being. Mr. Ramola's desirability as a colleague is a result of his initiative grasp of life skills and education system complexities across age groups and economic groups, and his ability to see both the big picture and the nuances of implicit in enriching the human experience.

There is a calm, collected method to his work that makes discussing every workshop with him a pleasure. We have extensively worked together on project using life lessons to make creative, educative and inclusive menstrual awareness workshops for young girls and women. I have been constantly amazed at the clarity of Mr. Ramola's thoughts and the single-minded focus he brings to any project. We were able to impact many young girls, due to Mr. Ramola's excellence which stems in part from his openness to different ideas. Mr. Ramola is a great sounding board and possesses the ability to quickly grasp concepts and offer brilliant insights; the latter is made possible as a result of his constant quest for evermore inventive techniques to pass on learnings.

It has been a pleasure working with Mr. Ramola as he seamlessly combines creativity, intellect, and vision. He is an exceptionally trustworthy co-worker and I am happy to make a recommendation.
